

Today's Supreme Court ruling will change college admissions across the country. Affirmative action helped afford broader opportunity to education for countless students, including A Better Chance Alumni, in the face of historic and systemic barriers.

For 60 years, our Scholars have attended the most rigorous and selective universities in the nation. They have made indelible impacts on their campuses and beyond, excelling and becoming leaders in their fields.

Nearly 100% of our current Scholars will attend college. A Better Chance stands with them, and our 18,000 Alumni, and remains committed to expanding access to education and advancing the shared goals of diversity, equity, inclusion, justice, and belonging. We also stand with our member schools and college-affiliated partners to advance equity and access at their institutions and beyond - including supporting our Alumni in their career journeys.

Since 1963, A Better Chance has worked to fulfill its mission to increase substantially the number of well-educated young people of color who are capable of assuming positions of responsibility and leadership in American society. As a result of our impact, longevity, and founding soon after the Civil Rights Movement, A Better Chance for six decades has been identifying, recruiting, and developing leaders among young people of color throughout the United States. A Better Chance is committed to increasing diversity, equity, inclusion, justice, and belonging in education across the nation. We will continue to work towards those goals, helping children of color gain access to transformational educational opportunities.

Today's decision is a reminder of how much work remains in our shared pursuit of equity and fairness. Please join us.
